

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

Yellow dye moiety-containing prepolymers with blue light absorbing properties and methods for producing the same for use in the production of relatively high refractive index polymeric compositions are described herein. Polymeric compositions so produced are useful in the production of ophthalmic devices such as for example intraocular lenses and corneal inlays.